Forwards (also known as attackers) are outfield positions in an association football team who play the🎉 furthest up the pitch and are therefore most responsible for scoring goals as well as assisting them. As with any🎉 attacking player, the role of the forward relies heavily on being able to create space for attack.[1] Their advanced position🎉 and limited defensive responsibilities mean forwards normally score more goals on behalf of their team than other players.
Attacking positions generally🎉 favour irrational players who ask questions to the defensive side of the opponent in order to create scoring chances, where🎉 they benefit from a lack of predictability in attacking play. Modern team formations normally include one to three forwards. For🎉 example, the common 4 2 3 1 includes one forward.[2] Less conventional formations may include more than three forwards, or sometimes none.[3][4]

The traditional role of a centre-forward is to score the majority of goals on behalf of the team. If they🎉 are tall and physical players, with good heading ability, the player may also be used to get onto the end🎉 of crosses, win long balls, or receive passes and retain possession of the ball with their back to goal as🎉 teammates advance, in order to provide depth for their team or help teammates score by providing a pass ('through ball) Tj T* BT
